CHRISTMAS PARTY GAMES · BINGO

How to play Bingo

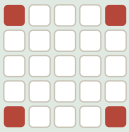

Picture bingo for every age: little ones match the pictures, grown-ups race for the line.

1. Give each player a bingo card and some markers (coins, dried beans, mini marshmallows or a crayon).
2. Everyone marks the FREE square in the middle.
3. The caller shuffles the calling cards (or uses the caller checklist) and calls one picture at a time, ticking it off on the checklist.
4. If the called picture is on your card, mark it. Pictures can be anywhere on the card.
5. The first player to complete the pattern for the round shouts "Bingo!". The caller checks the card against the checklist, and that player wins the round.

CALLER TIPS

- There are 8 sample cards, each with a different mix of 24 of the 40 pictures. The full pack has 40 cards, and no two of them share a row, column or diagonal.
- Quick rounds: with 10 players, the first line usually comes after about 14 calls; with 20 players, after about 13. Play a few rounds with different patterns.
- For a longer game, play Picture frame or Full card. Two winners at once? Both win, or have a tie-breaker: the next picture called that's on only one of the two cards wins.
- Little ones can play in pairs with a grown-up. Reuse the cards: slip them into sheet protectors and use dry-erase markers.
